Christmas historical traditions. Christmas in the 16th Century period was an extravagant affair – a mixture of older folk practices and Christian ritual. The Tudor '12 Days of Christmas' was a period in which work was forbidden between Christmas Eve (24 December) and Epiphany (6 January). A pre-Christian tradition, thought to have been introduced by the Norse and maintained by the Tudor gentry, featured a large log from the base of a tree which was decorated with ribbons and dragged home. Laid upon the great hearth of the manor on Christmas Eve, it would be kept smouldering over the full '12 Days of Christmas'. It was considered lucky to keep some of the charred remains for next year's fire. Made popular in Italy in the 13th Century and first recorded in English in 1426, Christmas carols originally involved dancing as well as singing. 16th Century Christmas carols still sung today, but revised, include 'We Wish You a Merry Christmas', 'The First Noel' and 'Good King Wenceslaus'. Henry VIII is credited with adopting the turkey as a Christmas bird following its introduction to Britain from America in the 1520s. It quickly became fashionable among the Tudor elite and was often served in a coffin-shaped Christmas pie, where it was stuffed with numerous other game birds. The demand was so great that flocks of turkeys were driven to London on foot from Norfolk, Suffolk and Cambridgeshire, the journey starting in August. Rather than a sweet snack, the "minced pye" was served at the beginning of the meal. It was baked with prunes, raisins, dates, powdered beef, butter, egg yolk, flour, suet, marrow, and minced mutton and seasoned with salt, pepper and saffron. The total of 13 ingredients represented Christ and his Apostles, while the loaf-like shape echoed the crib of the infant Christ and was sometimes adorned with an image of the babe in pastry. Another much older tradition was inherited from the Anglo-Saxons and included much singing. (Wassail comes from the Old English "Wass Hal" meaning "Your good health".) A large wooden bowl containing hot ale, spiced with apple, sugar and spices, was taken from door-to-door. Strangers were offered a drink in exchange for a donation. A wreath or double-hoop with roots in earlier pagan folklore, the Kissing Bough was woven from mistletoe, ash, hazel or willow, covered in evergreens and supported an effigy of the baby Jesus in the centre. Visitors would be embraced under the bough as a sign of goodwill, leading to the custom of kissing under the mistletoe. Gift-giving in the Tudor court took place on New Year's Day.

In Poland spiders are considered to be symbols of prosperity and goodness, at Christmas. In fact, spiders and spider webs are often used to decorate Christmas trees.

According to legend, a spider wove the baby Jesus a blanket to keep him warm.

If you cannot come to church, the church will come to you!
Our visiting team has grown in size, to allow us to reach out to even more people. We know that in some areas loneliness can be a huge problem, more so now that darker evenings are here, or if you are new to the area. Please don't feel that you are on your own—we are just a phone call away! Some of you might like us to call for a friendly chat, others might like to receive Holy Communion, either in your own home, in hospital or in a care or nursing home. Others prefer a telephone call, just to be reminded that we are thinking of you. Remember that if we don't know that you need us, we sadly cannot help you, so someone please get in touch on your behalf.
